

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 An electronic memorandum system for organizing miscellaneous personal information and messages. The electronic memorandum system includes a data entry device for receiving manual entry of information from a user, and a data display member operationally coupled to the data entry device, which is couplable 10 to a video display monitor. The data display member provides a visual record of the information entered by the user.